

How Secure/Insecure Attachment Patterns Relate to Our Past & Present

Facilitated by Ruth E. Van Reken

PNG-KLS-SPLC Retreat

October 6, 2023

Review...a little history

Discovering the orphan me...

She's safe now

THE PROMISE...

• "They're going to be safe too"

Attribution...

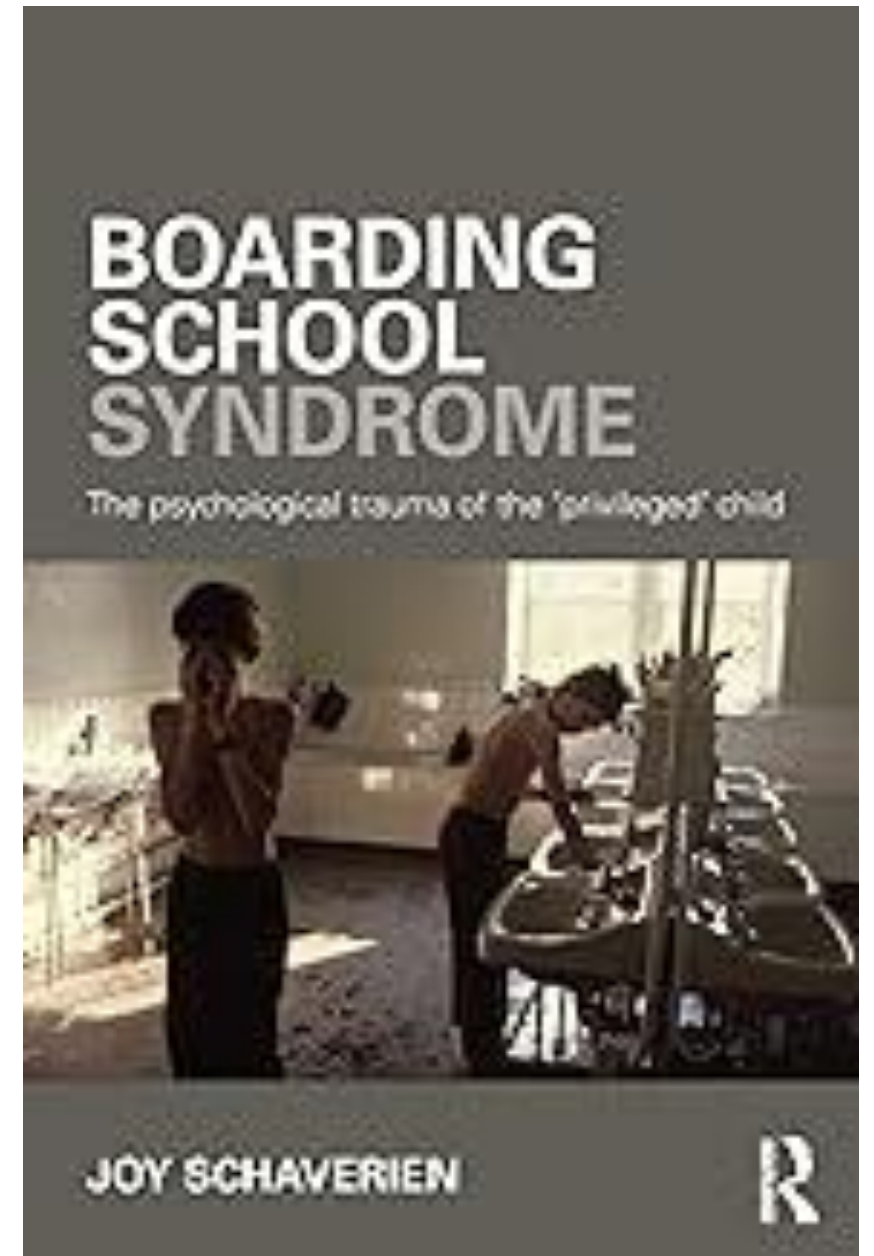

The Three Pillars of Transforming Care

Trauma and Resilience in the Other 23 Hours

Howard Bath & John Seita

Foreword by Larry K. Brendtro, co-author of The Other 23 Hours & Reclaiming Youth At-Risk

Attributions...

What do we mean by 'attachment theory'?

Assumes when primary caregivers are available and responsive to an infant's needs, child develops a sense of security which creates a secure base for the child to then explore the world...

The beginnings of this theory...

- British psychologist John Bowlby was the first attachment theorist. He described attachment as a 'lasting psychological connectedness between human beings.'
- Bowlby was interested in understanding the anxiety and distress that children experience when separated from their primary caregivers...
- Grief, despair, detachment

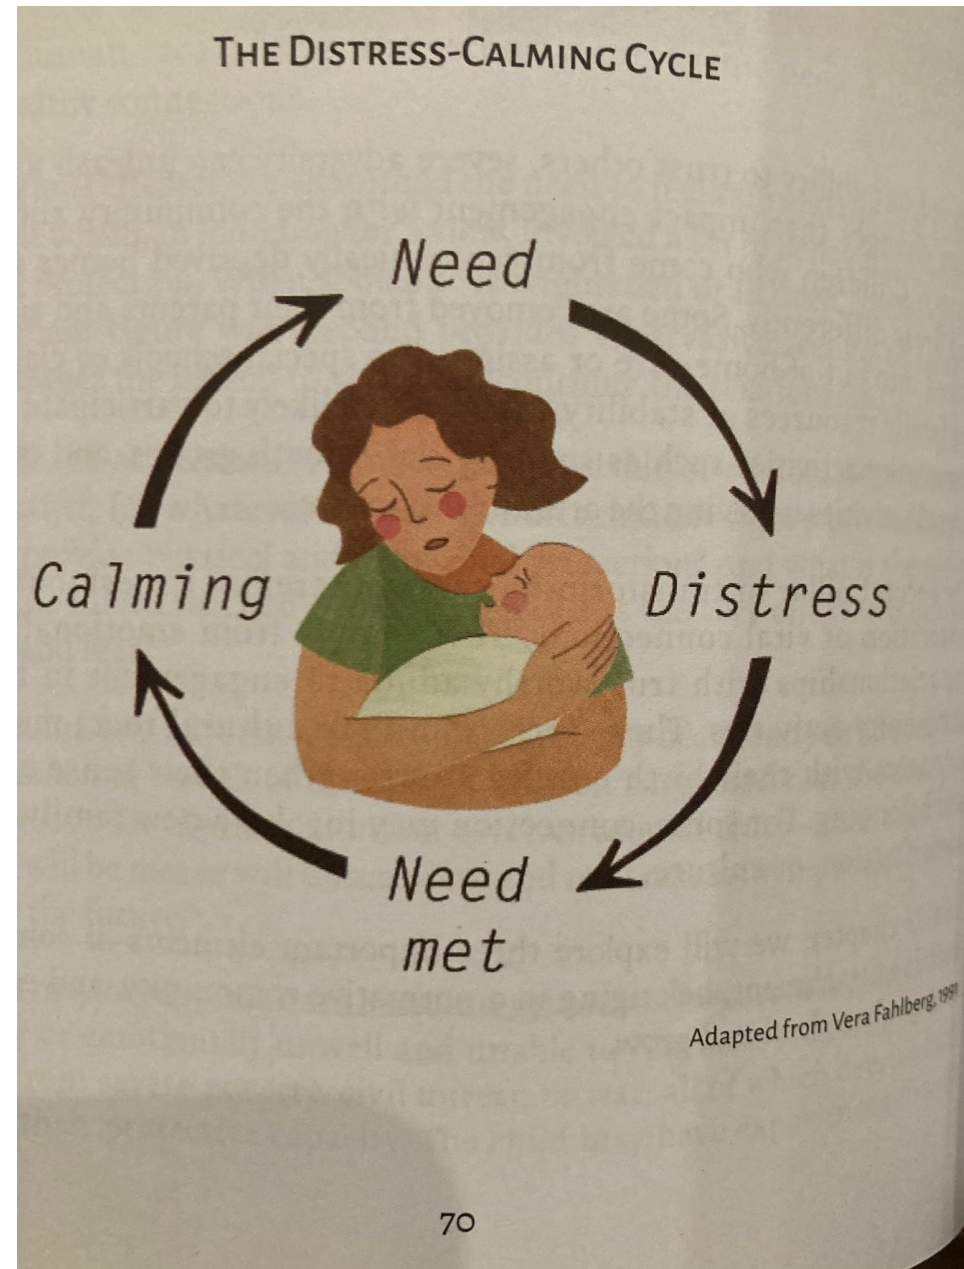

Attachment patterns

- Secure attachment

- Children trust their attachment figure will be there, providing a sense of security and confidence
- Use adults as a safe base and become more confident in exploring their world
- During adolescence, creates greater self-esteem, social competence, curiosity, mature independence, creative problem solving, positive coping skills

How secure attachments form

Attachment patterns

- Insecure attachment
 - When the care giver is not attuned or is only inconsistently attuned to the infant's needs
 - Children learn they cannot rely on adults for help or comfort

Attachment patterns

- Insecure attachment
 - May employ extreme behaviors to secure attention
 - May give up waiting for their carers to respond

How insecure attachments form

Sub- categories of insecure attachment

- Ambivalent attachment: As a result of poor parental availability
- Avoidant attachment: Children who are punished for relying on a caregiver will learn to avoid seeking help in the future.
 -
- Disorganized attachment: They may avoid or resist the parent. ..due to inconsistent caregiver behavior. In such cases, parents may serve as both a source of comfort and fear, leading to disorganized behavior.

A look at your story in relationship to attachment

- Who were potentially significant attachment figures in your life?
 - With which ones would you say you felt/feel a secure attachment and why?
 - With which ones would you say you have a less secure attachment and why?

Types of Trauma

- Type 1 or simple trauma
 - One single overwhelming event
- Type 2 or complex trauma
 - Ongoing exposure to fear and helplessness

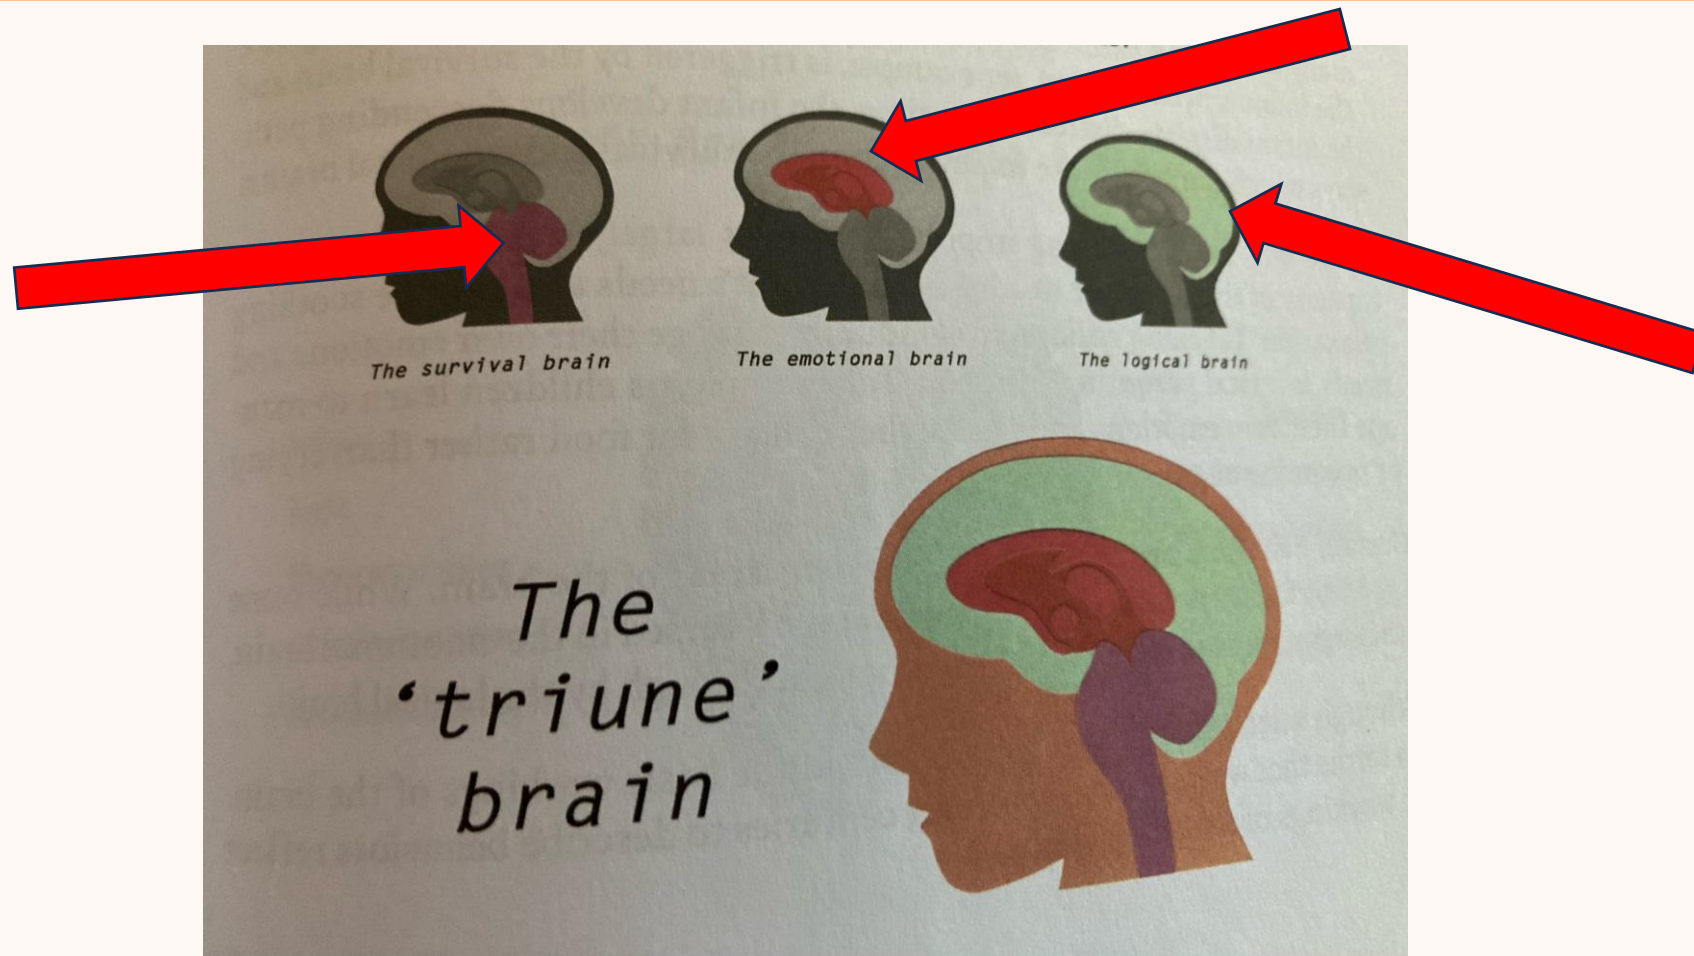

Alongside
'trauma' are
'Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs)

- Include:
 - Parental separation or divorce
 - Domestic violence
 - Physiological abuse
 - Emotional abuse
 - Sexual abuse
 - Spiritual abuse
 - Emotional neglect
 - Physical neglect

What happens in the brain with trauma?

Different parts and function of the brain

Two sides of the brain

Normal response to surrounding world

How trauma changes normal response

Neuro Hi-jacking!

Two sides of the brain

The result. Like zebra or not?

Possible Type 1 and/or Type 2 traumas for MKs?

- Increased death rate of peers and local friends?
- Repetitive cycles of separation and loss
 - Frequent goodbyes to favorite people—they leave or we leave
 - Farewell to places we loved and will likely never see again
- Possible political violence
- Extended separations from parents and siblings in first 18 years of life

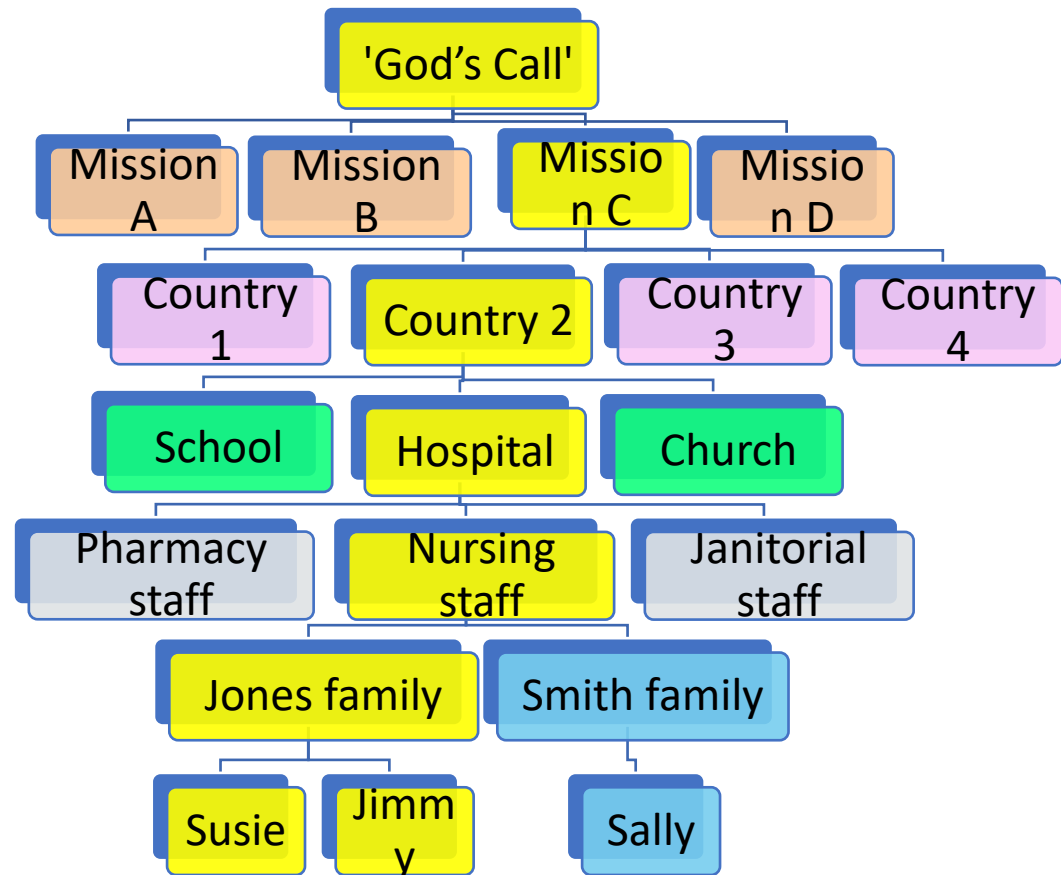

The findings of major study...

- ACEs and trauma related to many diseases, behavioral disorders, and adverse adolescent and adult outcomes

Putting this together for one MK story—mine!

- Felt secure
- I belonged
- Anxiety
 - Big fear of dying
 - Fear of kidnappers

EARLY LEAVINGS
1951-1953

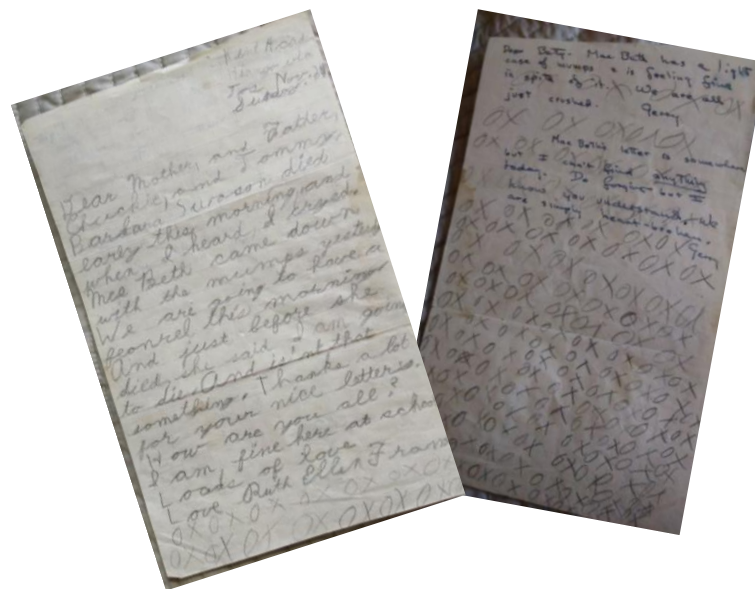

Detachment begins

How do children communicate what they feel?

WE HAVE NEW HATS
M.B. HAS RED
CH HAS PURPLE
I HAVE GREEN
THANK YOU LOVE
RUTH ELLEN

The BIGGIE

Nov 30, Sunday

Dear Mother, and Father,

Chuckie, and Tommy,

Barbara Swason died early this morning, and when I

and when I heard it I cried. Mae Beth came down with the mumps yesterday We are going to have a feonrel this morning.

feonrel this morning. And just before she died, she said I am -

...and just before she died
 , she said I am going to die. And isn't that something.
 Thanks a lot for your nice

Thanks a lot for your nice letters.

How are you all? I am fine here at school.

Loads of love, Love Ruth Ellen Frame
OXOXOX

[illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible]

Oxox

Oxox

Oxox

[illegible][illegible]

Oxoxoxoxoxoxoxox

HOUSEPARENT'S NOTE: Dear Betty, Mae Beth came down with a light cold.

down with a light case of the mumps but is feeling fine in spite of it. W fine in spite of it. We are all just crushed. Mae Beth's letter is somewhere.

letter is somewhere but I can't find it today. Do forgive. I know you forgive. I know you understand. We are simply heart broken here. GC

broken here. GC

First letter after Christmas break...

Kent Academy

Miango via Jos

Jan 11, 1953

Der Mother, and Dad, Chuck and Tom,

How are you all?

We are both fine.

I wish I could come home to Kano. Because I get very homesick down here.
Tessa has gone to get some baby puppies. But Bamsie is still here. We have ten little babypigs.
We used to have eleven baby pigs. But one died.
So we do not have eleven any more. But they are very cute.

Today M.B. and I are going to write to Aunt Theresa, and Sally, David, and Debby. We have started our sicene books.

This morning in Sunday School I had to give testomony's.

Loads of love

Love Ruth Ellen

P.S. Miss Brown is very sick
R.E.F.

OXOXOXOX

One week later...

Jan. 18th Sunday, 1953

Dear Mommy and Daddy, Chuck, and Tommy.

Last night we went for a picnic at the dame.

We have'nt had water for quite a while.

But we are getting some more now. The girls had some water in their focets, But the boys don't have a drop of water in thiere fosets. I am very excited about going home. [meaning the States for furlough in the coming June]

Will you please tell us if Chuck is saved?

And will you please tell us when the guard is saved? Carol Hursh is in bed with a bad cold. And Suzy Clay is in bed with pink eye in both eyes.

We might not be able to go swimming for anot-her month. The big girls sang in S.S this morning.

Auntie Gerry taught us good poster. And she taught us how too keep our teeth clean.

Love, Ruth Ellen

OXOXOXOXOXOXOX

P.S. Carol Langdon was sick But she got up this morning.

R.E.F.

OXOXOXOXOXOXOX

Feb 1 Sun
Dear Morningside and Tom
How are you?
I am fine.
Mary Ann, Nelson, and Cindy are in the hospital.
I have been very close to last few days.
I am here come back from getting for him. She got two babies, but they both died.
We do not have any babies I am sorry that I have written to you with my stationary. I'm out we had to make pillows with
on. I just put a real

Dear Mommy, and Daddy, Chuck and Tom,

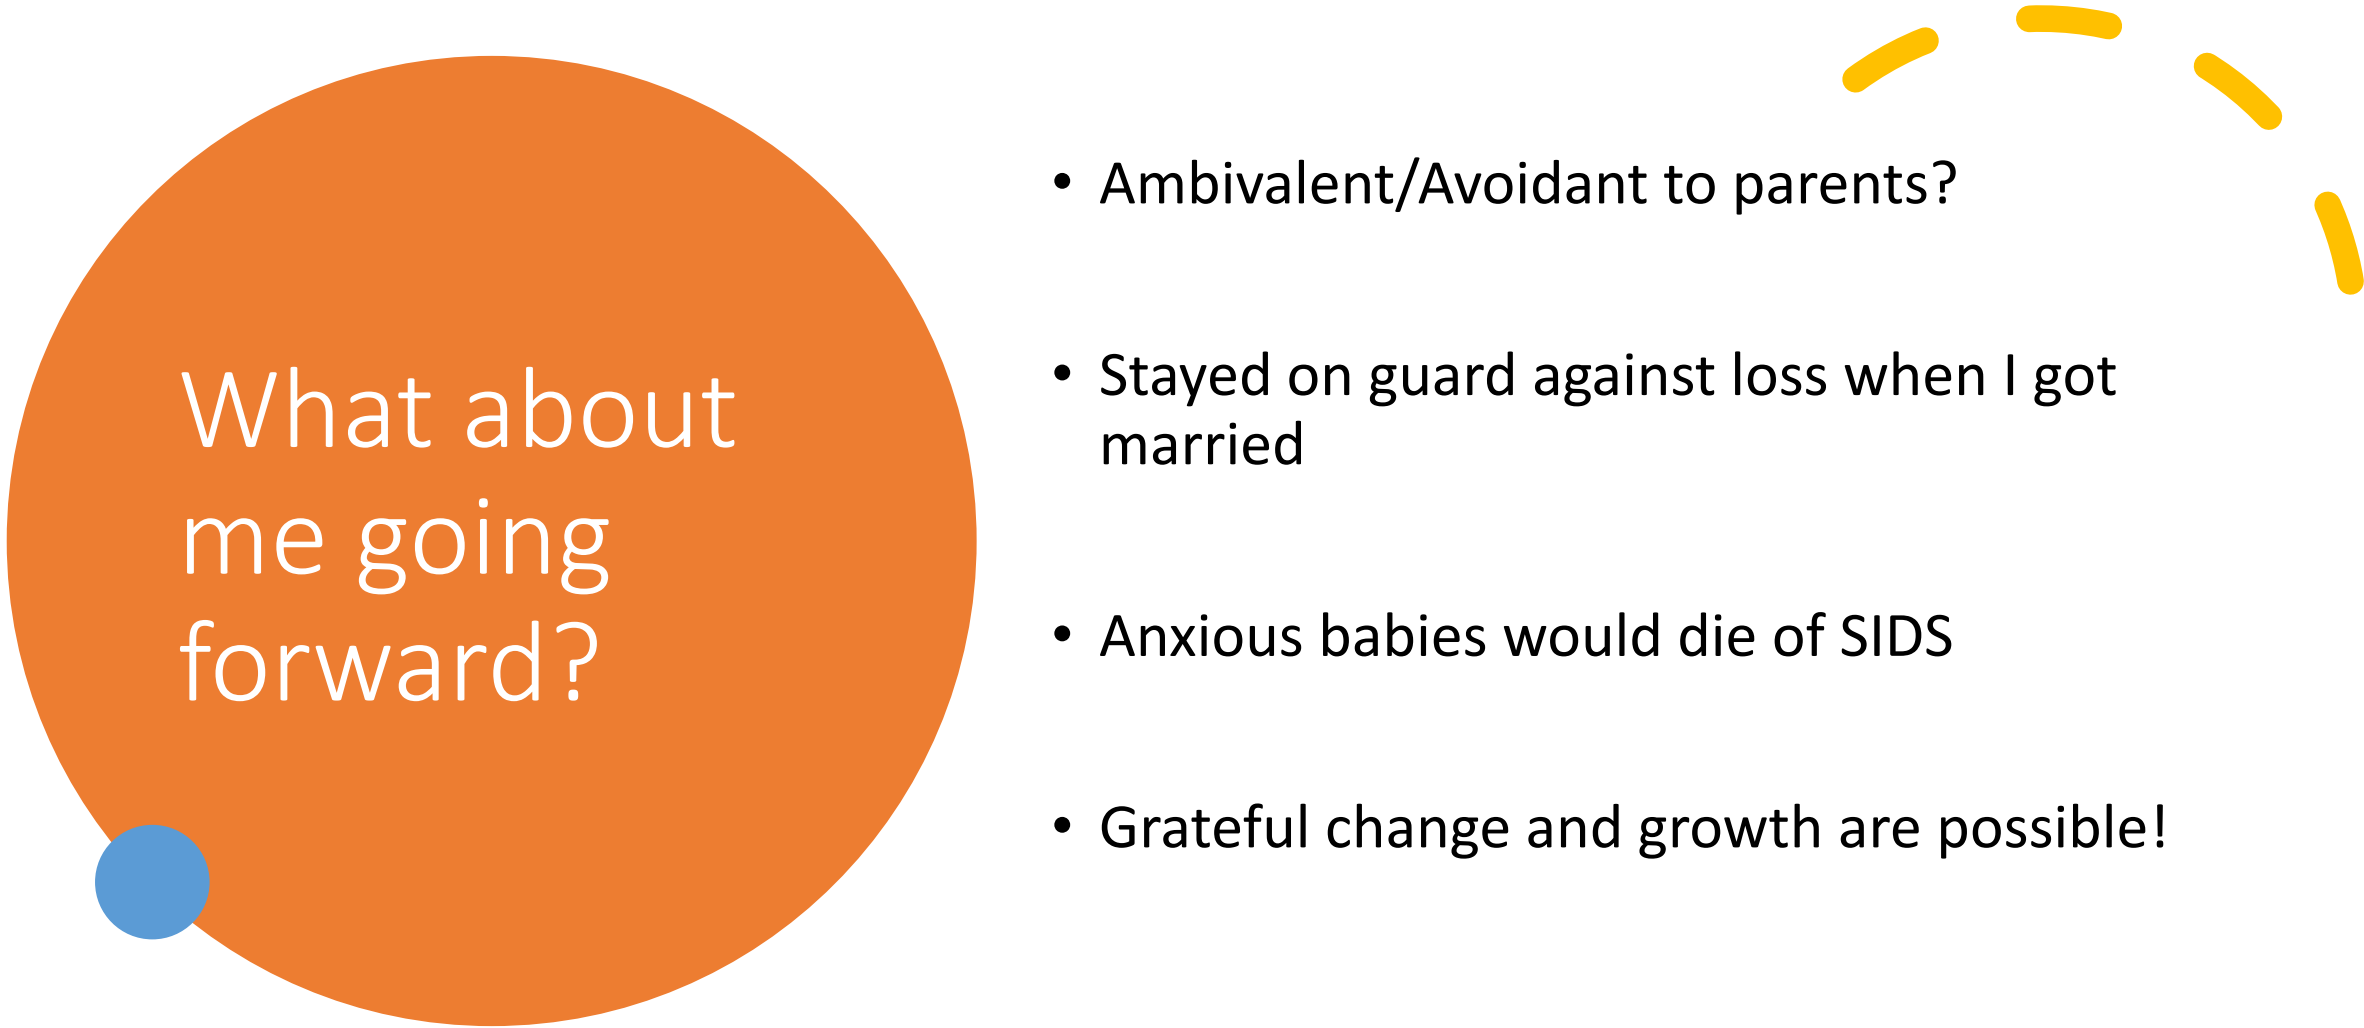

Mary Ann Nielsen, and Cindy are in the hospital.
It has bin very cold the last few days.

The days are going very fast. Carol Hursh and I have having fun. Carol Hursh said she would be very sad when we go home.

Loads of love,
Love Ruth Ellen
OXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOXOX
HOUSEPARENT'S COMMENT:
Your girls are very well. Mae Beth has a touch of pink eye.

The description of what/why the feelings of the child under the table (from Boarding School book)

- “The little boy knew that care was required but, in his captivity in the dormitory bed, he was helpless and unable to summon adult help. (punished if you get out of bed). Theo was totally alone and he was at the mercy of forces that were worse than uncaring; they were threatening. For a child in such a situation the realization that there are no limits, anything can happen is terrifying. He is not in control of his life and he is wordlessly overwhelmed.”

What about me going forward?

- Ambivalent/Avoidant to parents?
- Stayed on guard against loss when I got married
- Anxious babies would die of SIDS
- Grateful change and growth are possible!

AMKs helping each other

Tomorrow...

Strategies for moving forward
into new freedom and joy